Satpuda Foundation's conservation philosophy focuses on communities living in and around protected areas. The Foundation believes that these communities need to be roped in as allies in the conservation movement and that long-term, sustainable conservation is not possible only through the action of outsiders.

As part of this strategy, the Foundation follows a multi-pronged strategy of trust-building activities with communities, assisting them in meeting some of their basic needs, building their capacities and training and equipping them to shift to a lifestyle which is not based entirely on forests and forest produce.

Towards this end, the Foundation

- helps organise medical camps in which villagers get free medical treatment and medicines
- undertakes education programmes focusing on nature and wildlife conservation
- acts as a bridge between the villagers and development agencies in solving local development needs and
- assists villagers in getting gainful, legal employment and also organizes training programmes which help equip unemployed villagers with skills which will help them either get jobs or start their own small businesses

Highlights of our activities in 2010-2011

- 22 shramdhaans for water conservation work
- 42 unemployed youths got jobs through our assistance
- 8 training programmes attended by 50 villagers
- Joined hands with MP Bio-Diversity Board to organise functions with conservation message on 2 occasions
- Joined hands with EPCO to organise workshop on bio-diversity conservation in Pachmarhi Biosphere Reserve
- Awareness programmes on tree plantation and enhancing green cover in 13 villages, over 2,300 saplings planted
- 37 awareness programmes on forest fires in villages in our areas of operations
- Total of 23 medical camps, with 665 patients getting free treatment
- Assisted Government's Health Department in holding medical camp at Matkuli, at which around 600 patients got treatment

Conservation activities

Water Conservation

The Foundation organises programmes involving local villagers and school children to build temporary structures known as check dams/stop dams which help to retain water and to recharge water table of the adjoining areas. These structures are typically built on streams, known as nallahs, and are selected with the help of local forest officials and villagers.

In addition, we also help build soak pits next to wells/hand pumps. These soak pits collect the water which is spilt while being drawn from the hand pump or well and help to recharge the water table.

Fire fighting

Each year, our teams assist in preventing fires, fighting fires, which are very common in the dry, deciduous forests of this region. We start with awareness programmes from the spring months onwards and then extend our efforts to physically fighting the fires, which typically occur during the summer months.

Patrolling/cleaning of waterholes

Our staff voluntarily joins hands with local forest officials in anti-poaching patrols and helps in cleaning waterholes meant for wildlife.

Training in organic farming

Our team also organises training programmes to teach farmers organic farming in a bid to reduce the use of chemical fertilisers and pesticides in areas next to prime forests.

A list of our conservation activities is available in Annexure I.

Detailed monthly reports are available on our Web site www.satpuda.org

Livelihood programmes

The Foundation is conscious that villagers have limited livelihood options. It is not easy to preach conservation to people struggling for a living. The Foundation has, therefore, made a focused effort to provide employment opportunities to unemployed youths and to organise programmes at which they have been able to learn skills which equip them to either get jobs or start their own small businesses, which will help reduce their dependence on forests and forest produce.

A list of youths who have got jobs through our assistance is available in Annexure 3 along with a list of training/skill-enhancement programmes organised by us. Detailed monthly reports are available on our Web site www.satpuda.org

Health camps

Satpuda Foundation organises medical camps at which villagers get free treatment and medicines. These camps, whose schedule is set in conjunction with the managements of the respective Tiger Reserves, are run by the Mobile Health Unit (MHU) of Nature Conservation Society, Amravati, a partner NGO.

A list of our camps is available in Annexure 4.
